

RiverPark Floating Rate CMBS Fund (RCRIX/RCRFX)

Year End 2025 Commentary – Attractive Coupons from Commercial Property Assets

Fund Overview

The RiverPark Floating Rate CMBS Fund (“RCRIX” or the “Fund”) is a mutual fund that invests in senior tranches of floating-rate commercial real estate debt secured by Commercial Mortgage-Backed Securities (“CMBS”), a $2 trillion market.<sup>1</sup> The Fund pays a monthly dividend, offers daily liquidity, utilizes no leverage and has a 15+ year track-record. As a predominantly floating rate fund, our focus is on maintaining a consistent spread to the Standard Overnight Financing Rate (“SOFR”) each and every month without regard to changes in interest rates. We are currently targeting assets with a credit spread of 200 basis points in excess of monthly SOFR with investment grade ratings, low loan-to-value ratios (typically below 50%)<sup>2</sup> and which are less subject to fluctuations in interest rates.<sup>3</sup>

Credit Focus

During the course of 2025, we maintained our weighted average credit rating for the portfolio at Single A.<sup>4</sup> Our portfolio loan-to-value ratio is currently estimated at 40%. Further, we have constructed a durable and diverse portfolio with occupancy levels of ~94% and long-term leases.

Our roster of borrower/sponsors is comprised of many of the most successful investors in commercial real estate, including Ares, Blackstone, Brookfield, Centerbridge and Starwood. We continue to be invested only in securities backed by industrial assets (such as warehouses and distribution centers), apartment buildings (referred to as multi-family), and one AAA-rated luxury retail shopping center.

<sup>3</sup> Duration is a measure of how sensitive a bond’s price is to interest rate changes. The duration of the Fund’s portfolio as of December 31, 2025 was 0.27, implying little sensitivity to interest rate changes. Source: Bloomberg.

Review of Fourth Quarter 2025

Against a volatile investment climate, with declining interest rates, our conservative portfolio generated a 1.15% net return in Q4 2025, with a weighted average credit rating of Single A (“A”). As compared to primarily fixed-rate investment portfolios, the value of our portfolio, comprised of 94% floating rate assets, is not typically impacted, positively or negatively, by changes in interest rates.

Macro Environment

On the macro front, we see positive technical factors for CMBS in the year ahead with favorable supply/demand characteristics. For the full year 2025, the Fund returned 5.6% and is currently valued at 100.1% of par (face) value. The commercial real estate outlook for our asset types (primarily industrial and apartment) is healthy. The portfolio is well positioned should interest rates rise or fall.

Summary

In summary, we feel that the Fund had a great 2025 and is well positioned for the year ahead, assisted by a healthy CMBS market and strong underlying asset performance.

Portfolio Composition and Characteristics

The Fund is comprised of three asset types in 20 investments: industrial, multi-family (apartment) and one luxury shopping center. At year-end, our portfolio was secured by over 2,500 properties comprising over 600 million square feet across the United States. We feel that our portfolio has never been positioned more defensively and should deliver steady, floating rate returns at an attractive spread to SOFR for years to come.

These asset classes are discussed below with a detailed asset summary on the following page.

Industrial Assets (83% of the portfolio in 16 investments). Industrial assets typically represent the backbone of distribution for retail and commercial goods in the US. The Fund's industrial assets are comprised of large and diversified portfolios of "last mile" warehouse and distribution properties used by such companies as Amazon and Wal-Mart. For example, at issuance, our Blackstone XL2 warehouse portfolio consisted of 121 properties totaling 17 million square feet in 10 states. Within industrial, we also include cold storage, self-storage and data center assets.

Multi-Family Apartments (14% of the portfolio in three investments). Our multi-family apartment assets are comprised of portfolios of typically ten or more complexes, typically with 100 or more units per complex, including both high-rise and garden style apartments.

High-End Retail Shopping Mall (3% of the portfolio in one investment). The Fund's only retail asset consists of AAA bonds secured by the Fashion Show Mall located on the Las Vegas Strip. The 1.7 million square foot mall is 99% occupied with annual sales of nearly $750 million, one of the top malls in the U.S. in terms of size and sales per square foot.

The properties securing the Fund's CMBS investments are owned by many of the country's leading institutional real estate investors such as Ares, Blackstone, Brookfield, Centerbridge and Starwood; our investments benefit not only from their experience but also from their deep pockets and significant equity investments in each transaction.

Conclusion and Looking Ahead

We have built a defensive portfolio constructed with floating-rate and highly collateralized assets that are performing well in the current environment. We believe that this kind of portfolio should experience lower volatility and generate, as the Fund has done historically, steady and predictable monthly dividends. We are excited for the year ahead and the Fund's prospects. As a reminder, management of the Fund continues to be a major investor in the strategy.

Investing involves risk including possible loss of principal. Bonds and bond funds are subject to credit risk, default risk and interest rate risk and may decline in value as interest rates rise. High yield bonds involve greater risks of default or downgrade and are more volatile than investment grade securities, due to the speculative nature of their investments. CMBS are not backed by the full faith and credit of the U.S. government and are subject to risk of default on the underlying mortgages. Securities backed by commercial real estate assets are subject to risks similar to those of direct ownership of commercial real estate loans including, but not limited to, declines in the value of real estate, declines in rental or occupancy rates and risks related to general and local economic conditions. There can be no assurance that the Fund will achieve its stated objectives. The Fund is not diversified. The value of the collateral securing CMBS can decline, be insufficient to meet the obligations of the borrower, or be difficult to liquidate. As a result, CMBS may not be fully collateralized and may decline significantly in value.
